

Beat the Summer Slide with Sumdog

Research has shown that children can lose a lot of their proficiency over the long summer, leading to the new school year being all about catch up, and some children getting left behind.

We want to help you turn this around.

Because your students can log in to Sumdog anytime, anywhere, it's ideal to help them keep up a little fun practice over the break.

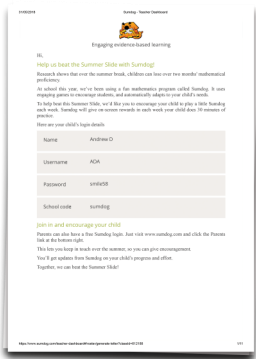

Here's how to beat the Summer Slide with Sumdog!

Rewards for motivation

Sumdog rewards correct answers with coins, and skills mastery with pets, so children are motivated to keep working and improving.

You don't need to do anything, this will happen automatically.

Get parents involved

Print off our Summer Slide letters to send home with your students, encouraging parents to get involved—we'll even fill in the login details for you!

Just log in and go to 'Settings' and 'Manage students'. Choose your class, click 'view details' and then click 'print parent letters'.

Summer Clubs

If you've got students attending summer school, you can set them up in summer clubs using our Groups. You'll be able to track their progress as you would a class.

Just go to 'Settings', 'Manage students' and click 'Groups' at the bottom.

Set challenges and competitions

If you want your students to focus on certain skills, or offer your own rewards, you can set challenges and competitions for your students to work on over the break.

You can set these up in advance for future dates, and your students will see them when they log in to play.
